WATER.-There is nothing more beautiful than to water. Look at it when you will, in any of its thousand forms, dripping from the moss of the spring, or leaping in the thunder of the cataract, it has always the same wonderful surpassing beauty. Clear transparency, the grace of its possible motion, in the brilliant sheen of form and its majestic march in the flood, are matched unitedly by no other element. Who has not blessed it unawares? If objects that meet the eye have any effect on our happiness, water is the first of human blessings. It is the gladdest thing under Heaven. The inspired writers use it constantly as an image for gladness, and "crystal waters" is the beautiful type of Apocalypse for the joy of new Jerusalem. ANOTHER ASTONISHING CURE! Wistor's Balsam of Wild Cherry. ALWAYS TRIUMPHANT ! C RE FOLLOWS CURE!! In its Onward Victorious Career!

4 4 4 4 4 4 4 DAYTON, Peb. 11th, 1845. Mr. J. W. WHITMORE: Door Ser :- As you are the regular authorized agent in Dayton, for the sale of "Da, Wistag's Bassay or Will Crigary," I take this method of making a statement of facts to you (which I hope may be uldished to the world) in reference to an almost minaculous curs, wrought in my case by means of the above invaluable Balsan. Language fails to describe the saintary effects it produced, and the great benefit I derived from its use.

The citizens of Dayton and vicinity, well recollect that on the 8th of August last, I received serious injury from the explosion of a can-non. A portion of its contents entered my right side and treast; and in all probability, some fragments or splinters of the ramrod passed through the "plara," and pierced the Lungs.

After the lapse of about six weeks, I was attacked with a distressing cough and violent poin in my right side. Some ten days after this, when in a perceyon of Coughing, suidenly an ulcer broke, and a large quantity of very offensive matter, mixed with blood, was discharged; most of which found passage through the opening of the wound. From this opening there frequently passed a quantity of air, supposed to issue from the lungs. During all this time my sufferings were aimost

My physicians, meanwhile, paid the strictest attention to me, and did all in their power for my recovery. But with all their skill, they could not reach the seat of distress, after the Lange and become effected. I was visited during this time by at least tecaty Physiciants. It was now reduced to a certainty, that inflammation of the lungs was rapidly taking place; and that this would terminate my life in a very short time, was in the highest degree probable. At this critical stage, a messenger was despatched to Cincinnati, and a celebrated Physician of that place was consuited. When he was made acquainted with my situation, he remarked that nothing could be done by medical aid, if the constitution itself was not suffi-cient to throw off the disease. My friends now despaired of my recovery, and I had no earthly ground of hope to survive many days. Fortunately at this juncture I saw one of Da. Wistan's Panyshata entitled "Family Medical Guide," or "Treatise on Companystim of the Lange." As I had often beard of dying men "catching at straws," I felt like doing so myself. By the consent of my physicians. I sent to you for a bottle of the medicine described, viz: "Wistan's Balsam or Will Chilant," which re-lieved me almost immediately. After I had used some five or six bot-tles, I so far recovered as to be up and about. My cough ceased, and my lungs were restored to a healthy state—all from the heeling and balmy inflacace, and powerful medicinal virtues of Wistan's Balsant.

Were it not for the external injury I received in the shoulder and arm by the explosion, I feel confident that I might have been working at my trade (which is blacksmithing,) but this has prevented. By exposure, I have since taken several severe colds; and my early remedy has been "THE Balsam." And I now most cordially recom-mend the genuine Wistor's Balsam to all who are afflicted with Couns, Couches, or Levis Completers. I consider it an invaluable medicine-n real blessing to the world. Any person desiring further information may call on me at any time. Yours truly, CHRISTOPHER R. SMITH.
